Salk Vaccine Strikes Polio Near Knockout

OTTAWA, (BUP) — A government survey has turned up evidence that polio has been struck a near-knockout blow.

The government conducted an exhaustive check on last year's inoculation program. The check covered nearly 500 thousand children in five of 10 age groups who received two or more doses of Salk vaccine.

Only five cases of paralytic polio occurred in the group under study.

The test also included 885 thousand children in the same age group who did not receive vaccinations. This test showed that there were 51 cases of paralytic polio.

In other words, the test showed that the polio rate was .84 per 100 thousand for those who received shots and 5.76 per 100 thousand for those who were not inoculated.

Board Of Trade Considering Jaycees' Stand On City By-Pass

A feeling of no undue concern as far as Pentiction is concerned regarding the proposed west side by-pass road was expressed by Mayor Oscar Matson at the Board of Trade meeting last night.

"With the excellent outlets we have via Eckhardt and Westminster avenues it will be possible to make better time than through the school zone," he said. "The main thing is that traffic be properly directed."

He spoke following a report made to the meeting by Maurice McNair in which Mr. McNair said a letter had been written to Evan Jones, deputy minister of highways, seeking information on anticipated road construction in the Pentiction district this year, with specific reference to the highway from Kaledon Junction to Kruger's Hill and the proposed cutoff.

"If we don't get a reply within a week," he said, "we will set up a committee to formulate our own ideas as to where a by-pass, if there is to be one, should go and we will also take into consideration a proper look-out site."

G. B. Lattimer asked what the board's opinion is regarding the Jaycees' stand against a by-pass. "Our committee is in the midst of a study and from their recommendations our stand will be formulated," replied Board President R. L. Sharp.

"I think it would be a terrible mistake if heavy traffic were forced to continue coming through the main part of the city," declared Geoff Allington.

Gordon Walker expressed the opinion that the government should improve the approaches to the city before a by-pass goes through.

Regarding the proposed zoning bylaw, George Lang told Board of Trade members last night that a 60-page brochure and accompanying map is at City Hall for the perusal of all those interested.

District 15 Schools' Budget Up, But Per Capita Pupil Cost Down

The board of trustees of Pentiction School District No. 15 has in effect adopted its 1956 budget figures, though a few final changes can be forecast.

By a resolution passed at Wednesday night's meeting, the board endorsed a total budget of $658,568 which compares with $636,564 for last year.

This higher figure for 1956, however, will be reduced by the amount of surplus remaining from last year's operation, an as yet undisclosed sum pending the completion of the annual audit.

It can therefore be predicted that, when all details are finalized, this year's budget total will not be materially altered from last year's. It will be several thousand dollars greater, but not sizably increased, according to best predictions that could be made at this week's budget meeting. But even if no further changes are made, the present preliminary figure represents an actual reduction in "per pupil" cost.

The fact that the whole question could not finally be disposed of at Wednesday night's session drew vigorous comment from Frank Erault, chairman of the board, who declared that the trustees should insist on an earlier completion of the annual audit as a "term of employment."

"This is the one item of substantial size that we haven't before us," said Mr. Erault, in referring to the unreported amount (Continued on Page 8)

Pentiction Division Highways Dept. Engineer, Lloyd Willis, Resigns

Lloyd Willis, divisional engineer with the department of highways with headquarters in Pentiction, has tendered his resignation, effective March 31.

Mr. Willis, in resigning, had high praise for Neil McCallum who quit last week as chief engineer in the province.

"I have a great deal of admiration for Mr. McCallum and feel the department has lost their top man not only as an individual but as an engineer," he stated.

Mr. Willis said, "conditions are not the way I'd like them and I don't feel there is any sense carrying on. My ideas don't compare with the way certain things are run in the department."

The divisional engineer's territory comprises the North and South Okanagan, Similkameen and Grand Forks areas. He has been with the government for nine years.

He has not made a definite decision on future plans. Meanwhile, in Victoria, Hon. (Continued on Page 5)

Invite New World Champions To Series Here On $30,000 Guarantee

Vees Challenge Russians

An invitation to the world champion Russian hockey team to play a three-game series against the Vees in Pentiction during the early part of May is winging its way toward Moscow today.

Unanimous approval to the proposal was given by a citizens' committee at noon today following a meeting in the council chambers at City Hall.

Base Gate On $5 Average Admission

It is estimated the series would cost $66,500. Already, a number of citizens have pledged that they will help underwrite the series at $1,000 each.

In a three-game series, estimated gate receipts, at an average of $5 per ticket, would amount to $60,000 and an anonymous man has offered to put up half of the $6,500 deficit if someone will match it.

The Pentiction Hockey Club would field a team with a guarantee of expenses up to $25,000 at the outside which would mean carrying reinforcements. Any profits would go to the hockey club.

This is how the expenses are estimated: Russian team, $30,000; local team $16,000; holding ice until end of May, $3,500; extra press gondola $1,500; advertising and administration, $3,000; entertainment, gifts etc., $2,500; equipment $3,000; miscellaneous $6,000, for a total of $65,500.

Citizens Sign Financial Pledges

A firm commitment has been made that if the Russians come they would be given free lodging and some comparable arrangement would likely be made for their meals.

A phone call was placed to O. L. Jones, M.P., in Ottawa yesterday and this reply was received today:

"Sending by air mail copy of letter signed by the Honorable L. B. Pearson, giving assurance the Canadian government would have no objection to a tour in Canada of a Soviet hockey team under appropriate auspices. Mr. Pearson's letter gives other details."

At the meeting today, the citizens' committee signed this sincere invitation to play a non-official series of games with us.

We would be the proudest people in the world if you would consider coming to our home town, Pentiction, British Columbia, Canada, to play a minimum of three games with the Pentiction-Vees, during the first week in May.

If you are able to accept this (Continued on Page Two)

Firm Commitment Made To Russians

The Pentiction Vees salute you and congratulate you on winning the Olympic and World Hockey Championships of 1956.

These congratulations are not only sincere — they also are expressed with full knowledge and understanding of what your victory means — of the superb skill, training and experience required to win a world hockey championship.

We know the Russian Dynamos possess all these assets, plus the extra spark that drives a team to the heights.

There is no question that the Dynamos were the best hockey team at Cortina this year. The only question which the Pentiction Vees ask themselves is: "Could we have beaten the Dynamos in 1956 as we did in 1955?"

In fact, this question is being asked around the world. It in no way tarnishes your victory or dims our admiration for your achievement.

However, it does make us very anxious to send you this most sincere invitation to play a non-official series of games with us.

We would be the proudest people in the world if you would consider coming to our home town, Pentiction, British Columbia, Canada, to play a minimum of three games with the Pentiction-Vees, during the first week in May.

If you are able to accept this (Continued on Page Two)

Some of the citizens' committee and an additional 15 persons have given a verbal pledge to underwrite expenses of the project to the extent of $1,000 each.

A full list of guarantors will be published in Monday's Herald. Following is the text of the invitation which will be sent to External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson for forwarding to the Russians through the proper diplomatic channels:

The Pentiction Vees salute you and congratulate you on winning the Olympic and World Hockey Championships of 1956.

19-Year-Old Youth Kills Self To Investigate Reincarnation

SHAWNEE, Okla., (UP) — A 19-year-old newspaper circulation worker wrote a note today saying he was so curious about reincarnation he had to personally investigate it, and killed himself.

The worker was Richard Dean Swink, who had a job in the Shawnee circulation office of the Daily Oklahoman and Times. Ralph D. Shapiro, his boss, said he was intrigued by the book, "The Search For Bridey Murphy."

The book is the story of a Pueblo, Colo., housewife, who, under hypnosis, told about a former life in Ireland a century ago as "Bridey Murphy." The author of the book is Morey Bernstein, who hypnotized her.

The rebirth of the soul in various bodies is called reincarnation. That is to say, the soul of "Bridey Murphy" was reborn in the body of the Pueblo housewife, according to the book.

The note that Swink wrote said: "They say that curiosity kills a cat. Well, I'm a cat and I'm very curious. I am curious about the Bridey Murphy story, so I'm going to investigate the theory in person."

He left the note under the windshield wiper of the truck in which he killed himself with a borrowed .22 caliber rifle.

Search Party Finds Aged City Resident Dead From Exposure

Frozen body of 78-year-old John Moir, resident of Valleyview Lodge, was found by a search party led by J. D. Shaw yesterday morning near the RB Guest Ranch above Pentiction Avenue.

The elderly man had left the lodge shortly before noon on Tuesday, and when he failed to return or show up at the home of friends, a search party was organized.

A post mortem performed on the body last night revealed that Mr. Moir suffered from a severe strangulated hernia.

Police believe he had been walking on the flume, fell off and then crawled about 125 yards before he was unable to continue further.

RCMP started the search for the man Wednesday evening. That same night they were joined by adults and youngsters and scoured the countryside until after midnight.

A search party went out again yesterday morning and found the body.

Response to the appeal for searchers was splendid. Staff Sgt. W. C. Wallace, of the RCMP here, told the Herald he wished to express his appreciation on behalf of the detachment to the many members of the public who had given wholehearted help in searching for the missing man.

"It would be impossible for me to single them all out," he said. "In fact I don't know them all. But they were of such assistance, and co-operated so readily and helpfully in making the search, that I want them all to know how very much this was appreciated by the police."

The late Mr. Moir was a former employee of the Masonic Lodge as janitor and had been at Valleyview Lodge for the past four months.

Date of the funeral will be announced later.

"We have to be informed so that we can instruct our embassy to issue the visas."

He told of many useful pamphlets and brochures available as a guide and stressed the importance of selecting the right kind of industry for the community.

"There are many agencies ready and willing to help you," he added.

In his opening remarks, the speaker said the eyes of the world were focused on this part of the globe where we enjoy such things as freedom and abundance of natural resources, now just a part of history to the tired parts of the world.

"I suggest that the field in terms of industrial development is a very broad one and perhaps you are confining that field to a more limited sphere than you might," Mr. Gram declared. "What you are really talking about is economic development, wherever you may find it."

"Every progressive community is thinking just as you are thinking tonight — how to attract industry and how to develop this economic base."

He cited examples. At Arran, Ontario, civic planners straightened out the planning problem, zoning problem and devised means of protecting potential industrial sites.

In British Columbia, Coquitlam finds itself in an interesting position because of its adjacency to Vancouver and its location on a main railway line.

"At Coquitlam they realize the industrial potential," he explained, "and council has been working on how to protect certain areas for industrial purposes. They are doing this through mechanization of subdivision control. They are not allowing this land to be subdivided into city lots."

Turning to the State of Washington, he said the University there sponsors a community development program to give advice.

Falls In Beer Parlour, Sues

Story of a woman who allegedly fell down a stairway in the Rock Creek Hotel beer parlor and suffered injuries was unfolded before a sitting of the B.C. Supreme Court, which concluded here yesterday.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who presided at the sittings, reserved judgment.

Action was taken by Mrs. Agnes Ray, of Pentiction, against the Rock Creek Hotel in a negligence claim.

Evidence was given that Mrs. Ray and her husband were on their way to a masquerade dance on October 29, 1954, at Rock Creek. Friends were also in the party.

They entered the beer parlor before changing into their costumes and going to the dance.

The husband, Jim Ray, testified that Mrs. Ray went to the bar to purchase some "Cheesies." He heard someone exclaim that she had fallen down a stairway where the lid of a trap door was up.

Evidence said there was no warning sign nor was there a railing around the opening.

Mr. Ray said his wife did not attempt the dance because of the injuries she had sustained and on November 2 was taken to Pentiction Hospital where she was a (Continued on Page 8)

Europe Still Battles Cold

LONDON — (UP) — U.S. "mercy" missions flew tons of food and clothing to snowbound Greece and Italy today as Europe fought a desperate battle against a bitter Siberian cold wave.

The worst winter storms of the century pushed the European death toll since February 1 to 251. Italy counted 69 dead and Germany 44.

U.S. Air Force European headquarters in Wiesbaden, Germany, announced three C-119 flying boxcars left for Athens to parachute 52 tons of badly needed supplies into snowbound areas in Northern Greece.

The planes were dispatched in response to an urgent appeal from U.S. Ambassador Cavenish-W. Cannon.

In Rome, U.S. Ambassador Clare Booth Luce, clad in a tan overcoat, galoshes and a red wool cap with tassel, was on hand to oversee personally the arrival of a U.S. army truck convoy with supplies for shipment to stricken Southern Italy.

Snow whipped by 90 mile-an-hour winds lashed Italy from the Alps to Sicily while the temperature dropped to 30 degrees below zero in Czechoslovakia.

Ice was thick along the shores of the Baltic Sea and weather experts said the entire sea might freeze unless there is an early break in the weather. The last time it happened was in 1947.

Only three of Finland's harbors were open and the export industry was reported in serious delivery difficulties.

Stockholm registered its coldest February day ever with temperatures at 13 degrees below zero yesterday.

ALL'S QUIET IN THE LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

The fire department hasn't been too busy lately. Only five calls for the past two days were two small chimney fires. One was on Tuesday evening, the other Wednesday evening. There was no damage.

Penticton Herald Editorials

Dice Are Loaded

In an editorial last Monday commenting on Russia's winning of the Olympic Hockey Championship, The Herald said in part, "... we blame the free world for clinging so slavishly to the long out-moded amateur code."

The Herald is not alone in its point of view, as witness the following comment appearing in the Washington Post and Times Herald. Says the American paper:

"The winter Olympic Games in Italy may have received a good deal more prominence than they really deserve, because of the lull in other sports' news at this time of year."

As you know, the contests were at Cortina d'Ampezzo in the Dolomite Alps, and the Italians spent a great deal of money in the anticipation of a relatively small but highly lucrative tourist incursion.

Thirty-three nations, including the United States and Soviet Russia, were represented in the competition, and the stakes were measurable mainly in terms of national prestige.

All this serves to sharpen the question of American policy toward future Olympiads. As matters now stand, the United States, Great Britain, Australia and possibly Canada seem to be the only nations where the doctrine of pure amateurism, stipulated by the late Baron de Coubertin, is scrupulously observed nowadays.

There is hardly any doubt that the athletes that the Soviet Union sent to Cortina d'Ampezzo, or will send to Melbourne later in the year, are professionals in our sense of the word. That is to say, they are persons for whom some specialty of sport is a full-time vocation, and whose income and training expenses are directly or indirectly subsidized.

It is unhappily true that professionalism under an amateur mask, is by no means unknown in this country — as, for example, in the subsidies and academic indulgences given to college football players; but until now any taint or suspicion of professionalism has sufficed to exclude an American athlete from participation in the Olympics.

At the same time, it is obvious to all who have ever observed the difference that the amateur athlete is very rarely a match for the professional. Thus the question is whether the consideration of national prestige involved in these Olympic Games is important enough to force a change in our attitude toward them.

If the answer is yes, then we shall have the choice of either withdrawing, or of being represented only by our very best without regard to amateur or professional status.

Highway 97

Highway 97, from the point where it leaves Weed, California, just south of the Oregon line to Fairbanks, is 2,993 miles long but it is the shortest way into Alaska.

It passes through some of the most picturesque and historic country in the Northwest and will one day be the most popular and practical road from the U.S. into Alaska.

Right now it is where a good deal of promotional and educational work is in order.

Starting at Weed, California, 97 threads northward through Oregon, and the central part of Washington, from Goldendale through Wenatchee, Okanogan, Oroville and up the Okanogan Valley of British Columbia.

As an idea of the distance involved, it is more than 2,000 miles from the Canadian line to Fairbanks, and almost a thousand miles from the Canadian line to Weed. If stretched out from west to east it would span the continent.

Reports from Canada are that improvement of their part of the highway is proceeding rapidly.

However, highway 99, which runs northward on the west side of the Cascades through Seattle, Bellingham, Blaine and on into Canada has been so well advertised that it still carries much of the northbound traffic.

A letter from J. A. Carson of Kelowna, who says he spent several months in California and adjacent states in the winter of 1954-55, contains some very thoughtful suggestions about 97.

Mr. Carson's first suggestion is that 97 will never enjoy the amount of traffic carried by other main highways until a bridge replaces the ferry at Maryhill and Biggs on the Columbia.

Then he suggests that 97, in order to be productive, must be extended from Weed, California, to the Mexican border, either over 99, 101 or 395.

He prefers 101 or 395 to 99, as they tap the heaviest population in California.

An indication of how the better known Highway 99 is getting the travel is shown by the following paragraph in Carson's letter:

"Nearly every filling station attendant will advise a motorist to travel over 99. Believe it or not, I was advised by an attendant at Klamath Falls, on my way back home, to back-track to Portland, hitch onto highway 99 there, and then come up through Blaine and home, several hundred miles further. This is just one case—there were many others."

On the Canadian side, the ferry across Lake Okanagan at Kelowna will be replaced with a bridge. Contract for the causeways has already been let, and the bridge is scheduled to be completed in 1957.

Ferry service across the lake, however, is exceptional. Three ferries carry on a continuous service 24 hours a day, and no one need wait long for a ferry, even if one has just left the dock.

Many tourists say the 16-minute boat ride across the lake is the most enjoyable part of a trip up the Okanogan Valley over this highway.

Alaska will always be a land of glamor to the tourist, who will remember the days when the gold rush was on and the Klondike was fabulous country.

While highway 97 needs more improvement, it is a passable highway. Last summer, Wenatchee Chamber of Commerce president Arthur H. Pohlman made the trip from Fairbanks to Wenatchee, a distance of almost 2,200 miles, in five and a half days.

Cariboo Trail Association members will be interested in knowing that improvement and paving of gravelled pieces of the highway between the Canadian border and the east end of the Alaska highway are, according to Mr. Carson, proceeding rapidly.

Board Of Trade Secretary Patton Really Gunning For Those Russians

AT YOUR SERVICE

Forgive me, but this column is written in the torment of trying to buy a dream with cold, hard cash.

Whether Penticton is able to make the deal may be known before this column is read. But here is a little background to the dream.

A fellow wakes up one morning with a vision — the name of the Penticton Vees once again spread across the newspapers and the TV screens of the world — and shouted over the radio, too.

Because the Penticton Vees have invited the Russian world hockey champions to play in Penticton.

He calls an unofficial, informal meeting of 20 representative citizens to try to share his dream. They tell him it's a beautiful dream, alright, but he'd better wake up to reality.

You can't invite the Russians to Penticton without being willing to pick up the capitalistic tab — not only willing, but ready and able as well.

They demand that the dream be described in dollars and cents. And translated in these terms, the total cost comes to $86,500. Thank goodness for these hard-headed businessmen.

Not even a dreamer envisions anybody with that kind of money. But dreams and dreamers die hard. If no one person has $86,500 in his pocket, maybe there are enough people with $5 each to make up the total.

Would there be any chance that 12,000 people across the country would pay $5 to see the Vees play the Russians? That would make $60,000. The difference of $26,500 between income and outgo? — Well, some angel will finance that small part of the dream. (One angel has agreed to take a half share in the overdraft.)

But, again, thank goodness, the practical people had a word or two to say about sickle fans. Suppose 12,000 don't turn out? You have got to guarantee the $60,000 whether or no.

True, So what's to do but find 60 men who believe that 12,000 fans will want to see the Russians play the Vees — believe it so strongly that they will bet a credit note of $1,000 on it.

At the time of writing, this dreamer has located 10 such visionary gamblers — all within 24 hours. Are there 50 more? That is the basis of the torment disturbing the dream-riden existence of the sleep-walker writing this column.

School Board Asks Staff To Take X-Ray Examinations For TB

Penticton's school board has requested that all its employees, including the teaching staff, arrange to have x-ray examinations for detection of tuberculosis, and it has further suggested that this precautionary examination be held annually, according to a resolution adopted at Wednesday's meeting.

Motor vehicle registrations in Canada jumped nine percent in 1955 to an all-time high of 3,430,672.

Colorado Legislature Stops Work For Vernon Girls McIntosh Pipe Band

From the time of arrival at 9:30 a.m. today until departure at 5:30 p.m. Denver welcomed the McIntosh Girls' Pipe Band with open arms.

The girls pipe band, from Vernon, were en route to El Paso, Texas, where they are appearing at the southwestern live stock and rodeo show.

An invitation was extended to meet the Governor, The Honorable Ed. C. Johnson, Governor of Colorado. As they marched up the State Capital driveway playing Scotland the Brave, the entire parliamentary procedure was disrupted, much to the joy of all concerned. The girls of the band were presented to Governor Johnson, Miss Hilma Foote presented a box of B.C. apples to His Honor, and the girls played for him in the Executive Chambers. On leaving, the girls were given souvenir pens, each bearing Governor Johnson's signature.

Members of the Legislative body declared a recess to enjoy the sound of the pipes swirling through the corridors, and invited the band to play in the Legislature immediately after their visit to the Governor, and the girls played three selections for the Representatives in the State Legislature.

Lou Baker of the C. H. Robinson Co. (Denver representative for B.C. apples), tendered the girls of the band a luncheon at which they were introduced to members of Denver's wholesale produce trade.

During the afternoon, the band played and danced for 800 students of the Skinner High School. Their reception at the school was marvellous ending with a thunderous ovation at the finish of the program. The student body presented the band with a beautiful box of candy in appreciation of their visit. The difficulty in getting the girls of the band separated from the student body for departure, vouches for the warm-hearted appreciation extended by the school, and perhaps would indicate a new way of further cementing international relations — let the pipes do it!

KYOGLE, Australia, (UP) — Tally-ho, and away we go, and cheers for myxomatosis!

They'll be riding to the hounds again in the Kyogle area in an attempt to whittle down the local population of foxes.

Since the introduction of myxomatosis to kill off the over-abundant rabbits, foxes have been raiding local hen houses, piggeries and even attacking calves in an effort to get food.

Kyogle farmers plan to meet the menace with fox hunting done in the traditional style of pink coats, bugles and shades of John Peel.

Mrs. Kenneth Davenport Chosen IOOE Regent At Annual Meeting Here

Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, a former regent of the Diamond Jubilee Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, was elected by acclamation to fill that office again for the ensuing term at the annual meeting, held Monday in the Hotel Prince Charles. She succeeds Mrs. Neil McElroy who was chosen regent for 1955.

Others elected to office at the well attended meeting were: Mrs. H. E. Chalmers, first vice-regent; Mrs. R. A. Patterson, second vice-regent; Mrs. M. H. Wright, secretary; Mrs. George Kingsley, treasurer; Mrs. Alan Crawley, educational secretary; Mrs. W. J. McArthur, Echoes secretary; and Mrs. Howard Logan, standard bearer.

Members elected councillors were Mrs. H. H. Boyle, Mrs. J. B. Feeney, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Allen Anderson, Mrs. E. W. A. Cooper, Mrs. Alex. McNicoll, Mrs. J. L. Palethorpe, Mrs. W. L. Peaker and Mrs. A. Earl Wells.

Reading of annual reports indicated the success of the past year's activities centred around welfare work, educational projects, the "New Canadians" and numerous community undertakings. A total of $438 was distributed during the year to these projects. The largest single donation from this amount was the $100 IOOE scholarship to Penticton High School student Walter Katnik.

One of the chapter's major service projects for the past 12 years has been the TB Christmas Seals program, formerly convened by Mrs. H. H. Boyle and more recently by Mrs. H. E. Chalmers. The 1955 objective of $5,000 for the South Okanagan district was over-subscribed by $200, reported Mrs. Chalmers in her summary of the committee's work. The IOOE receives no financial gain in promotion of the TB Seals.

Several matters of interests were discussed under new business. A motion was approved proposing donations of $50 to the B.C. Children's Hospital and $40 to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

When Mrs. J. L. Palethorpe, convenor of services at home and abroad, presented her report, it was disclosed that a local recipient of assistance under this program had lost all his clothing and personal effects from his home through theft while a patient in the hospital here. Mrs. Palethorpe's appeal for clothing and bedding for the aged veteran received a ready response from the members.

The newly elected regent Mrs. Davenport was the chapter's unanimous choice as delegate to the forthcoming provincial meeting at Vancouver in April.

Prior to adjournment and afternoon tea, a new member Mrs. V. C. Swales of Kaleden was welcomed to the Diamond Jubilee Chapter.

The nurses' Valentine dance this evening aboard the SS Seacomus is the occasion for a number of pre-dance parties. Among those entertaining will be Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Coleman, Guernsey avenue, who will have as their guests Alderman and Mrs. J. D. Southworth, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. van Winkelaar, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dupont, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Onley, Mr. and Mrs. David Keir, Mrs. Bridget Wethered and Ed. Friesen, Vancouver.

"Leap Year" Smorgasbord Planned By Federation Of Naramata United Church

NARAMATA — A "Leap Year" smorgasbord supper will be held on February 29 in the community hall under the sponsorship of the Women's Federation of the Naramata United Church. Mrs. R. A. McLaren and Mrs. A. L. Day will co-convene the supper to be held from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Arrangements for the fund raising project were finalized at the monthly meeting of the Federation on Monday at the home of Mrs. McLaren with president Mrs. W. R. McFarlane in the chair. Devotions were led by Mrs. David Richards.

Other discussions focussed on plans for the annual federation tea to be held on April 4 at the Leadership Training School in conjunction with the students' display of handicraft. This event is held each spring just prior to the closing of the school term when articles made by the students during the year are shown to the public.

Two vacancies on the executive of the Federation were filled with the election of Mrs. McLaren as first vice-president and as secretary of the missionary program, and Mrs. Tom Taylor to the offices of second vice-president and secretary of community service. Mrs. L. W. Day was chosen secretary of relief and supply and press reporter.

Following adjournment of the meeting, a very interesting address was presented by Rev. John Pottruff from Calgary on the Mount View United Church School for Girls in Alberta. This social service school for delinquent girls is the only one of its kind in Western Canada.

At the conclusion of the visiting pastor's talk, refreshments were served to the 20 present by the hostess. Among those attending the meeting were Mrs. Pottruff and Mrs. Herbert, both from Calgary.

The Recipe Corner

A VALENTINE'S DAY TREAT FOR THE KIDDIES — AND THE COST IS ONLY PENNIES!

You can treat your children to a fun-filled St. Valentine's celebration for pennies with heaping bowls of hot buttered pop corn, and nourishing, delicious pop corn "bars" they eat just like candy.

And the same basic recipe you use to make the pop corn bars is also perfect for the striking "heart" centrepiece.

What is more, this is the kind of party in which your children can help in making up the treats and the decoration.

You start by popping up several quarts of pop corn.

HOW TO MAKE THE POP CORN BARS AND THE HEART

1 cup sugar
1/3 cup white corn syrup
1/3 cup water
1/2 cup butter
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 quarts of popped pop corn

Put sugar, corn syrup, water, butter and salt in a sauce pan and cook until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring (270° F.) until syrup forms a brittle ball in cold water. Add vanilla and stir only enough to mix it through hot syrup. Place pop corn in large mixing bowl and pour cooked syrup slowly over popped corn mixing well. Wet hands slightly and transfer mixture to flat cake pan. Press mixture into sheet cake and cut into bars with wetted knife. Nuts, candied cherries, gum drops or raisins can be added to popped corn before mixing.

TO MAKE THE HEART, press this mixture into a heart-shaped candy box. If that is not available, cut a heart-shaped pattern from a piece of cardboard, lay on top of pressed out mixture, and cut around it with a sharp, wet knife. Decorate with a red ribbon, and place pop corn heart on a large piece of red drawing paper as a background for your table centrepiece. If you desire, smaller hearts like this can be made as favors by making a cardboard pattern to cut-out the hearts.

In working with this pop corn mixture if it becomes too stiff and brittle before you have finished, it can be softened quickly and easily by warming in the oven.

er, the fair-haired bride chose net and lace over taffeta for her floor length gown designed with bouffant skirt and strapless bodice topped with a lace jacket. Sequins misted the Peter Pan collar of the fitted jacket styled with sleeves in lily point. A Juliet cap of lace with flowers on either side clasped the bride's lace edged chapel veil. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses and wore pearls, a gift of the groom.

Wedgwood blue iris were carried by bridesmaids, Miss Jean Kilback, the bride's sister, and Miss Olive Austin, as a pretty color accent to their identically styled daffodil yellow frocks of net over satin in floor length. Floretes of hyacinths were worn as their headpieces. The bride's niece little Miss Beverly Ann Soloway, Oliver, as flower girl, was sweet in a period frock of white net over softly colored blue. She carried a Colonial nosegay of hyacinths.

August Mayert of Horseshoe Bay was best man with Larry Hunter of Cultus Lake as usher. Mrs. Alfred Letts sang "Because" accompanied by organist Miss Ruth Dale.

A dinner for more than 150 guests in the IOOF Hall preceded the reception when the guests were received by the wedding principals and their parents.

The bridal table was centred with a three tier cake and ornamented with white tapers and spring blossoms. Reeve F. E. Atkinson was master of ceremonies. Dr. W. A. McIver, Penticton, proposed the toast to the bride with the groom responding in the traditional manner.

Among friends of the bride assisting in serving at the reception were the Misses Elsie Glaser, Edna Glaser, Alma Lake, Beverly Fleming, Myrtle Harbicht, Louise Atkinson, Marjorie Campbell, Noreen Erickson, Sheila Berison, Randi Truber, Eleanor Ul-

Doreen Mildred Kilback Bride Of William Doneskey At Pretty Afternoon Rites

Lighted tapers cast a pretty glow over the pastel colored blooms banking the altar in St. John's Lutheran Church at Summerland for the late afternoon ceremony on Saturday in which Doreen Mildred Kilback became the bride of William Doneskey of Vancouver. Given in marriage by her father, mer, Violet Holinger and Pat Morrow.

When Mr. and Mrs. Doneskey left for a honeymoon trip to the States, the bride was attractively attired in an aqua colored ensemble with charcoal grey and white accessories. Her corsage was styled of red rosebuds.

Add thou not unto his words, lest He reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.—Proverbs 30:6.

Jesus said, If a man love me, He will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.—John 14:23.

Mrs. John Sinclair of Scotland arrived in Penticton on Tuesday for a two-weeks' visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Boyd. Mrs. Sinclair has been visiting in Washington, D.C., with another daughter prior to coming to this city. She will spend some time in Vancouver with her son before terminating her visit in Canada.

Summerland Hockey Fans Enjoy Tie Game Between Intermediates

A good crowd was on hand Wednesday night to witness the first intermediate hockey game of the season held at the Summerland Arena, as Penticton Summerland Combines battled Kelowna Intermediates to a 6-6 tie.

It looked like a Combines' win until the dying moments of the third when Kiehl rifled one to beat McNiven and tie it up.

The game was fast and clean, with players giving the fair crowd plenty of action for the full 60 minutes.

Jim Fairburn got a hat trick for Combines. Feist and Kiehl each scored twice for Kelowna.

Combines opened the scoring in the first on a goal by Hooker. Schaefer tied it up at the 19:00 mark.

In the second, Combines moved out in front with four goals while Kelowna got three.

Combines got one in the third, Kelowna two.

Rangers Like "Handy Andy"

NEW YORK. (UP) — Right wing Andy Heberton has been the greatest revelation in the sudden climb of the New York Rangers in the National Hockey League this season.

The crew-cut rookie from Winnipeg was purchased for $12,000 from Victoria in the Western League shortly after Muzz Patrick took over as the Rangers' manager last summer.

"It was the first deal I made and I'll probably never make a better one," Patrick remarked the other day.

Most NHL rivals who have had to contend with "Handy Andy" during the current campaign would be inclined to agree with Patrick.

Heberton ranks with veteran centre Dave Creighton as the Rangers' leading goal-getter. That's a mighty impressive record for a kid playing his first year in hockey's big time.

Heberton once was the property of the Montreal Canadiens. He played amateur hockey briefly with the Montreal Royals and turned pro with Cincinnati in the American League in 1949.

Then followed five years with Victoria, during which time he became a local hero in the Western Canadian city and was honored with a special "night" last season.

The good citizens of Victoria were downcast when Andy finally was sold to the Rangers, but their loss was New York's gain. Operating on a line with Creighton and left wing Danny Lewicki, Heberton has really come into his own during his rookie year in the NHL, but admits he's still not satisfied with his playing.

"I think I was bearing down too much early in the season," Andy revealed, "and I missed a lot of easy chances around the net. Now I'm beginning to feel relaxed on the ice, so I should do better."

Heberton, who packs 180 pounds on his rugged five-foot-nine frame, played a little lacrosse and football before deciding to make hockey his career. However, despite his solid build, he isn't the bulky type.

Last Respects To Connie Mack

PHILADELPHIA. (UP) — The top men in baseball . . . government dignitaries . . . and hundreds of plain baseball fans pay their final respects to Connie Mack today.

The body of the 93-year-old Mack will lie in state for about two and one-half hours tonight at Philadelphia. Mack died Wednesday at the home of a daughter.

Mourners tonight will include Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, the owners of all 16 major league clubs, the governors of Pennsylvania and Missouri, and the mayors of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Kansas City. But the great majority of mourners will be people who never met Connie, but who remember cheering him and his teams for decades.

Ladies' Curling

Regular ladies' curling games have been shifted somewhat to accommodate rink arrangements made in connection with the Summerland Men's Bonspiel.

The Thursday ladies' draw has been put forward to Wednesday. Here is Monday's draw:

Nothing But Praise For Russians

Bobbie Bauer Subscribes To Russian Superman Myth

MONTREAL. (UP) — Bobbie Bauer, coach of the Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen who lost to Russia in the Olympic hockey tournament at Cortina, Italy, today had nothing but praise for the Soviet skaters and the European style of hockey.

Bauer, a former National Hockey League great with Boston's famous Kraut line, arrived aboard a trans-Canada airliner at 6:20 a.m. with the Dutchmen from London.

PRaises DEFENCEMAN

"They (the Russians) have a defenceman, he was number two, I can't pronounce his name, but he could make any NHL team right now," he said. "In fact, Boston could sure use him now."

The little pilot, whose Dutchies lost 2-0 in the final game to the Russians, said, "the things those Russians can do will amaze you."

"They can skate, stickhandle, fake and make passes as good as most NHL players," Bauer said. "Of course, the game they play over there is a lot different from the game Canadians are used to, but I think it is a lot better to watch."

The one-time Boston great added that he thought Canadian hockey has lost a lot of its appeal in the last 15 years.

"The board-checking and the cross-checking in the Canadian game is ruining hockey in Canada. In Europe they don't stand for it and I think their sport is better off for it," he said.

HIGH IN PRAISE

"The Russians are all schooled in soccer first and then go to speed skating school before they begin learning hockey. The way they use their skates to receive passes or to make passes is just beautiful to watch. They play just the way the game was meant to be played."

Bauer offered a number of reasons why the favored Dutchmen lost to the Russians, but added "don't misunderstand, these aren't all-balls."

"The rinks over there are all 100 feet wide compared with 85 feet in Canada and the ice is so much harder. On top of that, the altitude and cold outdoor weather makes it tough on your wind," he said.

"If Canadian teams expect to beat Russia in hockey they will have to send a team over there a month ahead of time to get used to both conditions and the European style of play."

WOULD DRAW FANS
"The same would be true if Russia brought its team over here. For exhibition games in Canada to be of any kind of a contest at all, they would have to practice on our heated indoor rinks for three weeks and get used to our game. But I'd like to see them come over and I think they would draw very

Bauer said that in a year or two the Russians would be even better than they were when they swept the hockey boards at Cortina.

"They do everything just about as well now as our best players in Canada, but they have to learn to think when they have the puck around the other team's goal. Right now they can't adapt themselves to a sudden situation. They have all the shots we do, but they can't change their minds as quickly when they skate in on goal," he said.

James Dunn of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Hockey Association, travelled with the team. He said there will "definitely have to be some changes made if Canada expects to beat Russia in hockey."

Dunn said he was still trying to find the solution and wouldn't make any official recommendations until the CAHA's annual meeting in Montreal next May.

"Maybe the best thing to do would be to take six or eight of the best players, from the Allan Cup (amateur champions) and augment it with individual players from other teams or use reinstated amateurs," he said.

Professional players can be termed amateurs in Canada and compete in the world hockey championship every year but the Olympic year. Dunn was non-committal when asked if he would be in favor of using National Hockey League players in such a plan.

Vees Like Victory - So Do Vernon Canadians

Those Vernon Canadians who made no bones about wanting to top the league this year, then went ahead and did just that, make their second last appearance on Penticton ice during regular league play when they tangle with Vees at 8 p.m. tonight.

Even though there's nothing at stake statistics-wise tonight, neither Vees nor Canadians ease up when they meet, they're arch enemies, they're both confident of a clash in the finals and both share a common dislike for losing.

In the other league fixture tonight, Kamloops plays at Kelowna, both teams now tied for third place. That will be a hot one.

Vees have only two more home games after tonight before the season ends. They host Vernon again next Friday, the Elks February 24.

Meanwhile, an important meeting will be held Sunday in Vernon when number of games and dates for the semi-finals and finals will be set.

Bearing in mind that Savage Cup playdowns get underway in the Kootenays, March 19, officials must decide whether OSA HL semi-finals should be a best of five or best of seven. Finals will be a best of seven.

South Okanagan High School Band from Oliver will add zest as they provide music at the game tonight.

Kenney Gets Tough With Some Royals

NEW WESTMINSTER. (BUP) — Two veteran members of the New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League were fined 50-dollars each yesterday and a third player was suspended indefinitely by co-owner Kenny Mackenzie.

Mackenzie said the fines were levied against Blinky Boyce and Bobby Love and Jim Zarie was suspended for what he termed "indifferent play" against the Seattle Americans.

He added, however, that the fines would be refunded if the Royals win both scheduled outings tonight and tomorrow.

Maple Leafs Move Into Fourth Spot

BOSTON. (UP) — Toronto Maple Leafs moved into sole possession of fourth place in NHL last night with a one-all tie with the Bruins at Boston.

The Bruins moved into a fifth place tie with the Chicago Black Hawks, who entertain the league-leading Montreal Canadiens in tonight's only game. Billy Harris sent Toronto into the lead at 11:47 of the first period, but Real Chevrefils tied it up at 16:41 of the same period.

Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick, up from Winnipeg and playing his second NHL game, was hot as he turned aside 35 shots.

Junior Skiing Plus Adult Race

Ski Club Tournament On Sunday At Meadow Lake

On Sunday, the Summerland Ski Club will hold a club tournament, featuring junior skiing with an adult race to round out the afternoon.

Slalom and downhill races will be the main events of the afternoon with the following age groups participating: 12 years and under, 12 to 15 years, 15 to 18 years.

The first event is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for winners of each competition as well as an aggregate award.

ROAD EXCELLENT

The road to the hill is in excellent condition with markers for directions all the way. Speed is cautioned. Lots of parking space is available at the hill and there will be someone in attendance to park cars.

The Summerland Ski Hill in Meadow Valley, 13 miles west of Summerland, has a skiing area of over 100 acres with excellent snow conditions.

A large class of junior skiers have been availing themselves of lessons conducted each Sunday morning with the result that competition is a point of great interest.

A new motor has been recently installed on the tow and is proving highly efficient.

KEEN COMPETITION

A keen competition is expected with local junior skiers anxious to try out their skill in executing the course of slalom and downhill. An invitation is extended to all parents and spectators to attend. Coffee will be sold at the Chalet.

A bus will leave Penticton at 12 noon from Carter Bros. and will leave West Summerland at 12:30 from Mac's Cafe. This bus goes up to the hill each Sunday and leaves from the same points in Penticton and Summerland at the same times.

Welterweights Clash Tonight

NEW YORK. (BUP) — Welterweight contender Isaac Logart meets stocky Ramon Fuentes tonight at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Young Logart is heavily favored (at 5-17) because of his great speed and his quick flurries of punches. Fuentes is the third-ranking contender for Carmen Basilio's crown, while Logart is ranked only eighth, but many boxing men believe Fuentes lacks Logart's speed, skill and punch.

BOOSTERS MEET

Members of the Penticton Hockey Booster Club met at the Elks Home last night and decided to put 300 pens on sale in an effort to assist the hockey club in overcoming their deficit.

The pens are engraved with "I Am a Penticton Vees' booster." Go Vees Go, and will sell for $1 each.

Several other vital matters were discussed by the Boosters but plans are still in the formative stage.

EDMONTON, Feb. 10, (BUP) — Officials of the Grey Cup Champion Edmonton Eskimos said today that veteran guard Frankie Morris has signed with the Eskimos for his seventh consecutive season.

Golfers Will Discuss Lease; Elect Officers On Sunday

Thorny problems of a lease will be an important question discussed by the Penticton Golf and Country Club at their annual meeting on Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Hotel Prince Charles.

Financial report will be given and there will be an election of officers. Only two of the present six officers, Marvin Syer and Bill Johnson, have indicated they will stand for re-election.

Present lease on the golf course site has run out and members are seeking concrete action from City Council. They would like a 20-year lease on the present course or a 20-year lease on the section west of the railway tracks and a 10-year lease on the other portion.

It is hoped that all golfing enthusiasts will attend this important meeting.

The evening will conclude with showing of the color sound movie "Swinging With The Stars" of the Canadian Open starring Arnold Palmer.

KENCOS TOP BASKETBALL LOOP; TAKE CLOSE GAME

CORBITT STARRED

Jane Corbitt was a standout for Kencos as the shooting guard racked up 14 points. Marg Vansantan led the Teddy Bears and was high scorer with 16 points.

She also held Kenco centre Del Herbert to eight points to show well in her defensive play. Teddy Bears opened the scoring, and the first quarter was even going, Kencos ending on top of a 10-8 score. The second quarter was all Kencos. Jo Burgart with two baskets, Jane Corbitt with another, and a free shot by Miriam Dennis left the half time score 17-10 as Frances Verchere made Kelowna's only score.

There was a great deal more activity in the third quarter as Kelowna edged to within two points of Kelowna but were five down as the quarter ended 30-25 for Penticton.

Jane Corbitt picked up eight points and Miriam Dennis five for Kencos, while Vansantan with eight, Field with three, and Fitzpatrick with four points scored 15 for Kelowna.

LAST QUARTER SPLURGE

The last quarter saw a desperate Kelowna squad gradually edge closer to Kencos, but they couldn't quite close the gap. Del Herbert scored four at this crucial time, and the game ended 30-35.

SUMMARY

Kencos — J. Burgart 6, J. Corbitt 14, D. Herbert 8, M. Dennis 5, S. White, M. Almas.

Penticton High School Launches Teacher-Parent Conference

For many years teachers have recognized the value that may come from parent-teacher conferences. Parents too, realize the benefits that accrue from such interviews.

The report card which the student takes home from time to time never tells the whole story of the boy's or girl's progress. In fact, many parents have found difficulty in interpreting the report card fully.

The parent-teacher conference provides a splendid supplement to the report card and in some respects is a better medium for reporting to parents. At the same time, parents can do a little reporting too.

With mutual understanding, both teacher and parent find themselves in a much better position to promote in its fullest measure the educational growth of the student.

P-T CONFERENCE
The parent-teacher conference is a fairly new technique. This method of reporting pupil growth at school is based on the belief that:

(1) Parents and teachers can guide the child better by getting together compared with undertaking this alone.

(2) Parents are anxious to help their children make good progress.

(3) The home is an educational agency as well as the school.

(4) Parents can offer valuable suggestions and helpful criticisms.

(5) Personal conferences can give a fuller description of a child's life in school than is possible in a written report.

JOINT UNDERTAKING
The conference is a joint undertaking. Suggestions and ideas should come from shared thinking. The parent will have as much to contribute as the teacher though perhaps from a different point of view. The end result is the important thing. If the educational growth of the student is improved as a result of the conference then it has been well worth while.

There have been, of course, many conferences held between parents and teachers. These have come about in an incidental manner or from the fact that schools once a year hold "Open House." Too often on these latter occasions, teachers have been unable to speak to but few of the interested parents. Too often, also, teachers have not been able to discuss matters with the parents whom they would most like to see. These parents have not been present.

CONFERENCE WITH PARENTS

In line with a recommendation submitted by the Department of Education the local high school on Wednesday next will embark upon a plan for organized conferences between parents and teachers.

One day in the month or alternate months, probably the third Wednesday, each teacher will make specific appointments with four parents.

These parents will be invited to come to the school at intervals of 15 minutes, between three and four in the afternoon. By this plan as many as two hundred parents each conference day will have an opportunity to sit down with the teacher and discuss the students concerned.

In most cases appointments will be made by telephone. It is hoped that where possible both mother and father will attend. If the date one month is not convenient for the parent, an opportunity for the conference will be afforded at a later time.

The success of the plan will depend upon the response of the parents. It is hoped that each discussion will serve to bring parent and teacher together to exchange ideas and suggestions in the best interests of the child. The conference should show how well or otherwise a student is progressing at school. It may well help the parent to better understand the report card which has been sent to the home.

The principal will be pleased to have the reactions of parents as to the success of the plan. A phone call or a note addressed to the High School will be much appreciated.

Impressive Induction For New Baptist Church Minister

Summerland Buys Chickering Piano

SUMMERLAND — Summerland community now has a Chickering grand piano which will be housed in the high school auditorium and be under the trusteeship of the municipality.

The purchase was made possible by using the nucleus which has been in the bank for some time for a piano, and promises of payments of $100 per year until final cost is met by the Parent-Teacher Association, the Rotary Club, and the high school Students' Council.

A number of interested people backed the enterprise. The school board did not contribute towards the project as it is not considered necessary for school purposes. It is hoped that other organizations will donate towards the piano as well as individuals.

The piano's cost was $1,950 and it is considered an excellent "buy".

It was owned by a man in Kelowna who found it too large for his present home and who was anxious to sell. Expert opinion was received on its condition and value before the sale was completed.

With the acquisition of the piano visiting artists of the highest calibre will be able to give concerts in Summerland.

Salk Vaccine

strates the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine as a polio preventive.

Martin said the results were most striking in British Columbia where polio was the most severe last year. Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia also showed significant results.

In Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba, not a single death from polio was reported last year.

"With regard to safety," Martin said, "among all the children who received one or more injections of the vaccine, not one case of polio occurred within 30 days of its administration."

"This is the interval during which polio, if caused by the vaccine, might be expected to develop," he added.

In each of the five cases of paralytic polio among the vaccinated children, he said, symptoms of the disease showed up "at least two months following the inoculations — clearly indicating that the vaccine could not have been responsible for the infection."

"In other words, these five children contracted polio in spite of, and not because of, the vaccine," Martin said.

"Despite the fact that more cases were reported in British Columbia than any other province, there was not a single case of paralytic polio among 45,067 vaccinated children in the study group," the minister said.

"As opposed to this," he added, "ten cases were reported among the 12,488 unvaccinated children."

Taken together, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia last year had a relatively high incidence of polio in relation to the five-year average, Martin said. But, he added, among 20,406 vaccinated children there were no cases of paralytic polio, while among 52,089 unvaccinated children there were 13 cases.

Niagara Falls Is Proud Of its Traffic Record

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., (UP) — More than one million cars passed through this tourist mecca in 1955 but the city managed to establish the enviable traffic record of two consecutive years without a fatal accident.

Niagara Falls' last traffic fatality occurred on September 9, 1953. Police chief Cecil R. Pay had additional reasons to be proud of the city's traffic record.

"Last year, accidents were reduced by 15 per cent," he said, "and the number of persons injured was cut almost in half."

U.K. Teachers Sought

VICTORIA, B.C. (UP) — British Columbia Education Minister Ray Williston said the west coast province was in the market today for 110 British school teachers for the coming school year.

He told the provincial legislature last night that last year the department advertised for a total of 72 teachers in the United Kingdom and received applications from 150.

Many visitors from Baptist churches in the valley gathered in First Baptist Church, Penticton, Wednesday night, for an impressive service of induction when Rev. A. G. Stewart Liddell was officially inducted as pastor of the local church.

Rev. A. G. Stewart Liddell, of the local church, Rev. B. A. Wingblade of First Baptist Church, Kelowna, occupied the chair as moderator of the Association of Baptist Churches in the Okanagan Valley.

Representatives of all affiliated churches took part. Ronald King, representing the Kaledon Baptist Church, read the Scripture and led in prayer. Pastor Ray Waldo of First Baptist Church, Vernon, also led in prayer and brought a message in song entitled "Yielded, Lord, to Thee." Rev. Lyle Kennedy of the West Summerland Baptist Church, performed the "Acts of Induction."

Greetings from the local Ministerial Association were brought by Rev. J. A. Spittal of the Nazarene Church, and a letter of greeting was read from Rev. Ernest Rands of the United Church. Rev. J. C. A. Barton of First Baptist Church, West Vancouver, brought greetings from the Edifice and Extension Committee of the B.C. Baptist Convention.

Mrs. E. W. A. Cooper, representing the ladies of the church, extended warm greetings to Mrs. Liddell, and presented her with a beautiful corsage of white carnations. A mixed quartette from the host church sang "Balm of Gilead."

Main speakers of the evening were F. G. Shears of Vancouver, treasurer of the Convention of Baptist Churches of B.C., and Rev. R. C. Standerwick of the West Point Grey Baptist Church of Vancouver, in delivering the charge to the church, Mr. Shears stressed the fact that minister and laymen are all servants — servants of the living God. He charged the congregation to set aside personal or congregational differences in favor of wholehearted co-operation in the great task of spreading the Gospel. In particular, he urged a responsible attitude towards church attendance and support of the mid-week service of prayer. The Rev. Standerwick, in delivering the charge to the minister, challenged him to be a priest in upholding his people in prayer, a prophet in applying the Word of God to the contemporary situation, and a shepherd in feeding and defending the congregation of God's people.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Liddell, following which refreshments were served and a time of fellowship enjoyed up the lower auditorium of hearsal was pointed out, as one example of creating fire danger. There are others.

Smoking

The way another school unit's auditorium was used in a recent meeting with people butting out cigarettes on expensive flooring, was labelled a "disgrace" by the board's maintenance supervisor, at Wednesday night's meeting.

Discussion by the board revealed that it is thinking of restricting smoking in all school premises to principals' and general offices in the various units, to staff rooms and stage dressing rooms, to the cafeteria-auditorium when refreshments are being served and at adult meetings only. So far as night classes are concerned, the board seemed of the view that smoking should be restricted to the so-called "nurses' office" and that it should be under the direction and be the responsibility of night school instructors.

What to permit, or not to permit, so far as public audiences attending the general auditorium affairs, is concerned, was not finalized by the trustees, pending conference with the fire marshal.

But what the board is evidently seeking is the restriction of smoking to permissive areas which can be regularly watched by its janitor staff. Once such areas are established, it will be the policy to exercise the "strictest disciplinary attention to any and all breaches of the regulations" according to the tentative wording of a resolution laid before the board.

This resolution was placed on the table, and not finally passed, pending the advice of the fire marshal.

The fire marshal if need be, will be asked to go so far as to prosecute any flagrant offenders against policy rules.

"We won't pass this resolution until it is complete in all details," remarked Trustee G. A. Ington.

"And when we do we'll see that it's lived up to," added the chairman, Frank Erout.

Engineer Resigns

able P. A. Gagliardi, minister of highways, was quoted as saying: "Mr. Willis phoned the deputy minister of highways (Evan Jones) a month or six weeks ago and asked whether a promotion was in store for him under our new re-organization scheme."

"The deputy said no."

"Mr. Willis suggested that perhaps he should then look for another job."

"The deputy said, 'Go ahead.' And that's it."

Actually, the discontent in the highways department goes much deeper than any of the officials care to admit in public.

Conflict between Gagliardi and McCallum and some other engineers has been going on ever since Gagliardi became minister of the department more than three years ago.

Rev. Liddell is a native of Winnipeg, where he attended United College. Further studies were completed at Northern Baptist Theological Seminary in Chicago, following which he filled several pastorates, including East Hazelcrest, Ill., and Shaunavon, Sask. The Liddells have three children, Glennis Joy, Landon, and Lorn.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Liddell, following which refreshments were served and a time of fellowship enjoyed up the lower auditorium of

Sports Review

By Luba Lapshinoff

Last Friday night, February 3, our Lakettes "Senior B" boys, and Lakets went to Oliver to challenge them in a game of basketball.

I am glad to say that we had a really good turn out to cheer for our teams. This was the best basketball game of the year. Two buses went to Oliver at 5:30 and one more bus left Penticton at 6:30. The buses were loaded, and the gym filled to capacity.

Lakettes and Oliver Hornets

The game started at 15 minutes to seven. The first score was made by Barb Puddy for the Lakettes, which started the crowds yelling.

Summary: 1st quarter — Hornets 2, Lakettes 4.

Second quarter — Hornets 6, Lakettes 4.

Third quarter — Hornets 10, Lakettes 6.

Fourth quarter — Hornets 14, Lakettes 19.

The best players of my choice were Esther Snider, Dot Hutchinson, Kay MacDonald.

SENIOR "B"

The second game between our Senior "B" boys and the Oliver Senior "B" boys was good, even though we did lose. The game ended with the score, Penticton Senior "B's", 23; Oliver Senior "B's" 43.

LAKERS VS. HORNETS

Summary — First quarter, Lakers 9, Hornets 20.

Second quarter — Lakers 15, Hornets 33.

Third quarter — Lakers 25, Hornets 45.

Fourth quarter — Lakers 38, Hornets 55.

My choice of the best players and I'm sure that most everyone else agrees with me were Wayne Loughheed and Donny Robb.

Wayne Loughheed — Now hear this! Now hear this! Loughheed shoots a 30 footer! And he scores! Bring the score up to 21 with his glasses dangling over his knees.

Chuck Freeman — The guy with the temper.

Donny Robb — The fighter, (Davy Crockett). And in on every play.

Denro Pederson — Man with the patience.

I am sorry to say that this game between the Oliver Hornets and our Lakets was the last. The Lakets will not play Oliver again unless we challenge them to a game and they accept. So come on gang, how about cheering for the Oliver Hornets? Here's hoping they win the cup for the valley championship.

This Friday evening our Lakers and Lakettes are going to Summerland for a game. And this Saturday night in our new Pen High Gym, the Keremeos girls and Senior B's will come in to play our Lakettes and Senior B's. We have also invited the Oliver Senior B's and the Oliver Hornets to play us a home game. So come on out to Summerland if you can this Friday night, February 10, and do come out for sure to our Pen High Gym this Saturday night, February 11.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL

REPORTS

Some sixteen members of the senior council, together with their sponsor, school principal, H. D. Pritchard, were privileged last Monday to attend the City Council meeting.

The students were greatly impressed with the wide range of topics which came up and the variety of details which the council must deal with at one sitting. All students express their sincere thanks to Mayor Matson and his aldermen for the kind reception and congratulate the council on the splendid business-like manner in which meetings are conducted.

In a letter received recently from Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Services of Canada, Penticton Junior-Senior High School came in for great praise. It was pointed out that by the adoption of two European children this year and by contributing so generously to the drive last fall our school has a record not exceeded by any other school in B.C.

Congratulations, students of Pen-Hi, for your splendid service work.

13-Year-Old French Boy Adopted By Junior Students' Association

The Junior Students' Association, through the Junior Council of the Penticton High School have become foster parents for a three-month period of a 13-year-old French boy, Michel Robert. This has been arranged through the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada. Michel is being cared for at the Maison d'Enfants in Severs, France.

Michel can barely remember his father for he died in 1945 when Michel was only three years old. His mother is unable to support him for she is a factory worker and often unemployed. Because he has known poverty, uncertainty and insecurity throughout most of his life, Michel is a sensitive and hesitant boy.

The affection and thoughtful care which he so badly needed was provided by the Maison d'Enfants at Severs. Besides his food, clothing and shelter in his first secure atmosphere he has ever known, Michel is receiving his basic education. Later he will be trained to ensure a useful, independent future.

The Severs Home, recognized as the best institution of its kind in France, opens its doors to children of all ages, nationalities and creeds. They live here side by side in complete peace and harmony, a small but exceedingly potent democracy at work.

The Junior Council hopes to provide something extra for Michel during his stay in Severs.

Orchardists Join Board of Trade

Orchardists of Penticton and district are still coming into the Board of Trade in good numbers.

Fifteen orchardists joined in January, three more in February and at the board meeting last night two more applications by orchardists for membership were received.

The campaign to work closely in liaison with orchardists will be continued by the Board of Trade.

Promenade!

By H.G.A.

The news of the week this week is the Valentine Day Square Dance Jamboree being held at Oliver on Friday. This dance will be held in their Community Hall just across the river from town. This is the place where they have the new floor and the sketches on the wall, and where they serve a very delicious lunch after the dancing session is over. Everyone is invited to attend, and this includes those dancers who started their dance program very recently. Let's all turn out and show the Oliver group that Penticton has a lot of enthusiastic people who are always ready and willing to go visiting with dance clubs away from home. Dancers who may require transportation, or can provide transportation, are asked to get in touch with the Henry's at 5594, the McMorand's at 3423, or the Barritt's at 5673. All these people will help with transportation arrangements. The dance starts at 8 o'clock, so be sure to get there on time and not miss any of the dancing. Bob Emmerson of Omak will be caller for the evening, and of course guest callers will also take part in the evening's fun.

We hear that the Keremeos Club will also hold a dance in the Victory Hall in Keremeos on Saturday, February 25, and this is generally a joint undertaking with the Princeton group. On the same night the Peach City Promenaders will be holding a "party-night". That is, when the ladies bring the food, and local dancers get a chance to show what good hosts and hostesses they are. We have had many complimentary remarks on the friendliness of the local dancers, so let us show the visitors that we appreciate their attendance.

While it may be still on the early side, this may be the time to mention that the Washington State Square Dance Jamboree will be held in Seattle this year, the dates being May 25 and 26. This will work in very nicely with our holiday May 24, and would result in a very enjoyable long weekend. Dancing will take place in the Sand Point Naval Air Station, and the literature says that there will be lots of room, and the sound will be perfect. Dancers planning to attend may wish to mention this fact so that a caravan can be arranged and all travel together.

Night classes are still continuing, and the round dance session on each Tuesday night is proving a favorite with those interested in learning to add to their repertoire. This is the time to take advantage of this opportunity and learn some of these lovely figures. Les and Ruth Boyer will be glad to have you attend, and you will meet many of your friends there, all learning together.

See you all at Oliver on Friday night and at Summerland on Saturday night. It's party-time at Summerland on February 11. The place — Youth Centre. The caller — Les Boyer.

Canada Wants Russia To Buy Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA — (BUP) — Trade-treaty talks between Canadian and Soviet officials were scheduled to reach the peak of the "bedrock stage" today when Canada was expected to press an ultimatum on wheat exports, a trade official said.

The two-week-old talks were reported to have focussed on the major issues involved in a proposed, most-favored-nation treaty between Canada and Russia.

The official said that agreement had been reached on minor points contained in two treaties submitted by the two governments. But wheat, and other problems, still exist.

Canada is demanding that Russia take a big bite of this country's surplus wheat, or a trade treaty will be out of the question. Both countries were reported eager to sign the treaty, but the stand on wheat, and Russia's contention that Canada can take much more Russian exports, were slowing the negotiations.

Another headache for the treaty's architects was the necessity not to offend other countries.

"With many countries and so have we, and the ordinary form of agreements differs somewhat," the official said.

"We have the problem of trying to include into the treaty provisions that are acceptable and fit in with the conditions that exist as between our two countries," he said.

The official would not say what steps the delegates were taking to resolve the issue.

He said that Russia would have a most-favored-nation treaty with Canada because "that is the only kind of treaty that Canada signs."

"Lighting is pretty much of an afterthought in many house designs," explained Prof. Glen H. Beyer, director of the Cornell Housing Research centre, which will make the study under a grant from a light corporation. Beyer said adequate lighting is as important as a home's appearance, and bears directly on such factors as comfort, interest and help architects and builders treat lighting as a basic part of house construction has been started at Cornell University.

Ways, Means Of Cutting Down Kitchen Mileage

Nothing is harder on a woman's nerves, psychologists agree, than inconvenient, long out-dated arrangements for preparing the necessary "three a day." Some study of the accompanying drawing, especially prepared for The Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, will show why many wives and mothers often grow old before their time.

BIG KITCHEN
 Diagram "A" will no doubt arouse nostalgic memories in some, who recall the pleasures enjoyed in old fashioned kitchens where a great deal of living took place. However, the grim fact is that such domestic sweatshops frequently sent regular occupants to early graves. "In the so called good old days," one observer comments, "many a housekeeper walked herself to death."

If you doubt this, notice the distances involved. Nine feet from stove to cupboards, 13 from cabinet to ice box—which generally located out in the back porch—and twice that far from sink to dining room buffet.

Many households still have this "horse and buggy" layout. And since even the most efficient operators must make dozens of trips between these points while preparing a single meal, they frequently run up a total of several miles per working day.

ELIMINATE WALKING
 Now consider Diagram "B." A moment's study here will show how easy it is to eliminate the marathon. This particular layout is known to modern home planners as an "L," which en-

EACH COLOR HAS MEANING

You and your family will feel happiest in your home when you are surrounded with colors that suit you best. Everyone thinks of green as a fresh, peaceful, well-balanced color; yellow as cheerful, sunny; red as warm, energetic, exciting; blue as cool, reserved. In a way, you can be said to resemble the colors you like best, says paint consultant, Faber Birren.

If you're active, like to get out and around, like to have lively parties at your house, want your home to make a vivid impression on others, like unusual furnishings then red and the colors in the red family will probably be your true favorite, most accurately reflecting your personality.

RED DYNAMIC
 In this case, the keynote of your home decoration should be variety. A room can be made dynamic with well-chosen red accessories. Or, as a background color, watermelon red wall paint will give a room an active, lively atmosphere.

If you value a cheerful home atmosphere with comfort uppermost in home furnishings; like colors that are not too strong; entertain quietly, green is probably your favorite color. A medium green, neither garish nor too subdued, will be a happy choice as a color to paint your house exterior. It will give friendly yet quiet charm to your home. Neutral white trim will create a soft blend rather than a sharp contrast. Used on interior walls, green provides a hospitable background for brilliant color accents in furnishings and accessories.

CONSERVATIVE BLUE
 If you want your home to be dignified and impressive; like antiques and traditional furniture; choose your colors quietly; are more or less conservative, blue is probably the color that you feel most at home with. A cool, conservative blue with white shutters is an excellent color plan for painting the exterior of the more formal, conservative house which you probably favor if blue is your color. An interesting note of contrast can be added by painting the front door red. Blue makes an effective background color for traditional room furnishings. Enhance this pleasing room scheme by confining fabric to single pattern and accents to a single contrasting color.

If you find modern decoration and modern art appealing; like to work at home on your pet projects; choose colors more by reason than emotion; value intellectual ability highly and prefer good conversation to a card game, yellow is probably your favorite color. The intellectual appeal of yellow can be expressed in the natural yellow wood tones of modern furniture. Unpatterned ceiling to floor draperies, and pale pastel yellow-green paint on walls on ceiling will give the room both spaciousness and the uncluttered effect you like.

ables two people to work without tripping over one another. Other equally effective plans are The Corridor; an arrangement patterned after a ship's galley which is ideal for a single operator, and The U, which has supporting features down both adjoining walls.

All of them, however, have one point in common. They are built around the sink—most important single unit in any kitchen now that central heating has in most cases eliminated the coal range. The sink is flanked, for maximum efficiency, by cook stove and refrigerator.

Although not shown in the floor plans, the heights of various shelves and work surfaces is of vital importance. Counters and storage areas should be arranged so that a woman works at her most convenient level, with a minimum of "reaching down under" or climbing up on stools to secure food supplies and utensils.

GO ALL THE WAY
 According to a recent survey made by The Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, three

DON'T BE CARELESS IN USE OF ELECTRICITY

Careless use of electricity causes more than 125 fires a week in Canada, according to officials of the All Canada Insurance Federation—more than 10 per cent, with a total annual cost of $8,000,000.

Officials of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, said electrical fires are particularly frequent in the home where frayed wiring and overloaded circuits frequently go unchecked.

The following precautions are recommended by the insurance experts:

- 1) Employ only skilled electricians to install, repair or extend wiring when necessary.
- 2) Never string wires under rugs, over hooks or in other exposed places where continuous wear and tear will make them dangerous.

Practical Ideas Towards Your Own Fire Protection

Tragic death by fire, on the increase during the first part of this winter, makes it doubly important to know what to do when fire strikes, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

Officials of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, said early detection and alarm could minimize the majority of fires which cause some 500 deaths annually. They recommended the following measures:

- 1 — Know the location of the nearest fire alarm box and how to operate it.
- 2 — Know how to use a fire extinguisher; consult your local fire department as to the best type of extinguisher to have in the house.
- 3 — Keep the telephone number of the nearest fire department by the telephone at all times.
- 4 — In any fire, the first few minutes count most; never delay in turning in an alarm, once all occupants of building have vacated.
- 5 — At first sign of fire, close all windows and doors except those needed for escape.
- 6 — Report fires at first sign of smoke; don't wait until you see fire.
- 7 — Always leave baby sitters with complete instructions on what to do in case of fire.
- 8 — In cold weather, don't stop to dress children before getting them out of the house; wrap them in blankets if necessary.
- 9 — Always leave one exit free; check frequently to see that it is unblocked by boxes or furniture.

Do-It-Yourself Is Big Business Has Its Effect On New Homes

A few years ago, when more and more Canadians began doing things themselves, there were many persons who saw the movement as a passing fancy... something that would reach a peak and then fade. This group of skeptics included some manufacturers, who continued to put out their fix-it-make-it products for the professionals and not for the amateurs. The few manufacturers who quickly turned out tools, repair kits and gadgets for the home handyman got a head start on the market that has been difficult to overtake.

BIG BUSINESS
 Today, the do-it-yourself movement is big business and many industries which formerly catered solely to the professional craftsmen now do the major part of their business with the retail customer.

Canadians who started doing small repair and construction jobs a few years ago are still at it. They've increased their knowledge, have graduated to larger projects, found much relaxation and have saved money. In addition, as Canadians increase their over-all ownership of individual homes, the number of fix-it-make-it enthusiasts goes up.

These are facts developed over recent years.

WHAT PEOPLE WANT
 My first question is this: what do people want in a new house that they did not seem particularly interested in 10 or 15 years ago? This was the answer:

"There are lots of things prospective home owners look for now that they paid little attention to a few years ago. However, if I had to select one thing which commands constant interest, it would be the desire for an expansion area. These days more young people than ever before are buying new homes or having them built to specifications. They know that, as their family grows, there will be need for extra space. They would like to avoid the expense of paying for that space at once, before it will be used. So they want expansion areas which they can finish themselves when the times comes that more room is needed."

The second question is this: Do men figure ahead of time the place where they will put a workshop?

WORKSHOP LOCATION
 My architect friend answered it this way:

"Yes, there is a definite concern about where the home workshop will be located. But don't think it is only the man who is concerned about it. The wife shows a keen interest in it, and sometimes is willing to sacrifice a little space in another direction to be sure that her husband has enough room for his workshop activities. I guess she figures that any hobby that keeps her husband home is a good one."

Did my friend think that prospective builders have a fairly good knowledge of the kind of materials they want in their houses? He certainly did and he went on:

"They have been made conscious of certain materials through the publicity in many magazines and on radio stations... publicity which is aimed at the home owner. Occasionally, you run into someone who has such a meagre knowledge that he suggests certain materials not intended for his purpose at all. But he listens to reason when you explain the whys and wherefores. And most people have a pretty good idea of what each material is for, and why they want it in their homes. This applies particularly to kitchens, and, in a lesser degree, to bathrooms."

FOR HOLDING TOOLS
 Those old-fashioned tool racks, which have arms sticking out like an octopus, are handy for hanging tools with wooden handles. Drill a hole in the handle of each tool and then hang it on one of the arms. Some of the racks will hold as many as 20 or 30 small tools.

Building Queries

Question: My husband spends considerable time in his home workshop, but the only electric tool he has is a portable drill. I am thinking about getting him one of the larger stationary power tools. I would like him to make his own choice, but I have decided against that because I want it to be a surprise. Can you give me any advice about which kind to buy?

Answer: That's a tough question to answer without knowing the type of work your husband usually does in his shop. If, for instance, he goes in for making cabinets, tables and articles of furniture, a table saw would be the best bet... or possibly a bandsaw if he handles much curved work. If he specializes in small projects with scrollwork, he would want a jigsaw. And so on. Why not ask your dealer's advice... after explaining to him what type of work your husband does in the shop?

Or how about this? Is there a friend or relative with whom your husband talks about fixing and making things? Home workshop addicts are like fishermen and golfers; they like to talk about their hobbies almost as much as taking part in them. Take this friend into your confidence and ask his advice. The chances are your husband at some time or other has mentioned his preference... just as you probably have expressed a wish that some time you would like to have a particular household appliance you do not have now.

RACK FOR IRON
 A good rack for a hot soldering iron can be made easily from an old coffee can. Cut two v-shaped grooves in opposite sides of the top rim of the can. When you have to rest the hot soldering iron, put it down on the can so that the metal part of it fits in the grooves.

Canadian production of printing inks rose to an all time peak total of 25,735,017 pounds in 1953.

Flush Door For Table Top

At some time or other you undoubtedly have heard that a flush door or slab door makes an excellent top for a table. In the simplest type, little more is required than attaching ready-made legs to the underside of the door.

Recently there was an example of how such a door can be used, both as a table top and as a desk top. A man made a desk with the conventional drawers at each side of it—but instead of putting on a permanently attached top, he merely placed a flush door over the two drawer units. There are wooden cleats on the underside of the door to prevent it from sliding around, but there is no actual attachment to the drawer units.

Why did he do it that way? Because, when his children bring their friends over for a party, there is always a shortage of space for the sandwiches, beverages and other things to eat. The man has two sturdy sawhorses which he uses in his workshop. He brings them out, then takes the flush door off the desk and puts it on the sawhorses. Presto, a very spacious buffet table; perhaps not too fancy but more than adequate. When the party is over, back goes the flush door on the desk and back go the sawhorses to the workshop.

Problems of Juvenile Delinquency Subject At Queen's Park Meeting

Indicating public interest in the problem of juvenile delinquency over 100 were present at Queen's Park school on Monday night when a P-TA panel discussion took place on the subject.

The four speakers on the panel were John Weibe, probation officer; Mrs. Howard Patton, a former teacher at the Girls' Industrial School in Vancouver; Miss Ruth Adams, a member of the local Department of Welfare, and Tony Lloyd, city lawyer.

Mr. Weibe thought that western culture was partly to blame for the problem. His idea was that the thought of duty before privilege should replace one that seems to be quite common which is that personal rights are first.

He believes that family participation in work and play could be factors in solving some juvenile troubles.

Mrs. Patton told of the conditions in the Girls' Industrial School where delinquent girls of 12 to 18 years are placed. She thought that the lack of enough psychic treatment and trained personnel hindered the girls' recovery to a normal way of living. She stressed the need for more agencies to help to spot the trouble at the source rather than trying to untangle in nine months what ten or twelve years has produced.

Miss Adams spoke of the need of love and understanding during the growth of a normal child, and said that parents should watch for steps of advancement in the older child as well as the infant.

She continued to explain that adolescents go through many changes and should have a goal; an older person that can be approached and is respected can help the child to "set his sights". Mr. Lloyd gave some aspects of the legal side of juvenile delinquency. He said that young offenders are not kept imprisoned before trial but are in custody of the probation officer or another reliable person. The B.C. laws are concerned with children up to 18 years being with their parents, who are responsible to charges, as well as the youthful offenders.

General discussion centred around Teen Town and home parties at which parents are not present. It was thought that Teen Town stretches the age groups too much. It was the opinion of the meeting that 14-year-olds are not as a rule compatible with 18-year olds, and do not enjoy the same entertainment to the same degree. House parties without parents present were not approved as it was the opinion that this places too much responsibility on the shoulders of the young host or hostess. Conclusions were that parents might stay in the background but should be at home when parties are in progress.

D. P. O'Connell introduced the speakers.

At the business meeting prior to the talks the P-TA decided to give a loose-leaf binder to the honor student getting highest standing on leaving Queen's Park School for Junior High, and a fountain pen to the student who is second highest.

P-TA president, Mrs. K. E. Wilson, was in the chair.

School Budget

(Continued from Page One) of the surplus, and in complaining at the delay. At the same time he pointed out that the board must hasten to complete all its figures, and is "squeezed" in the process.

Rutherford, Bazett, Smith & Company were reappointed the auditors for another year by another resolution adopted earlier in the meeting.

Mr. Eratt, with Hugh Cleland, chairman of the board's finance committee; W. J. Mertz, the board's secretary-treasurer; and E. E. Hyndman, superintendent of schools, will be presenting the budget figures for the scrutiny of governmental department officials at a meeting arranged for Wednesday morning of next week.

To complete their figures, the trustees have been facing a steady schedule of after-midnight sessions for several weeks past. The preliminary budget lists as drawn up by all departments and committees came to about three-quarters of a million dollars.

Steadily paring and whittling away these proposed appropriations, the board has held its projected costs for the coming year to last year's proportions.

Gratification was expressed at the final resolution at the close of Wednesday's meeting, for the fact that the school population has increased by 4.8 percent over the year before clearly indicated that some increase in general operating cost was inevitable. Teachers' salary appropriations had also to be increased, according to agreement.

But whereas school attendance figures are up by 4.8 percent, the overall budget will not be beyond 3.4 percent, and it will be beneath that when the surplus figure is taken into consideration.

"I'm very glad to see that the per-pupil cost actually shows a drop this year," said Mr. Eratt to the meeting. "Not many costs seem to be coming down these days, even on average per capita basis."

Last year, while the school board budget came to $636,564 only $619,981 was expended, according to preliminary figures placed before the board.

A surplus of $17,000 cannot be predicted, however, for the working out of all details is very complex, largely because of a change in budget form standardized this year, it is explained by Mr. Mertz, the secretary-treasurer.

The gross budget expenses, of $703,303 as studied in final form Wednesday night, have offsetting income salary estimates of about $32,000, and $14,175 offsetting capital fund items, to give the net sum of $658,568.

Though the amount that is called "shareable", by which Victoria will contribute a half share, is yet to be finalized, a preliminary indication at the budget meeting placed this at around $610,268.

While the trustees have held the budget amount to about last year's level, the costs for the year ahead nevertheless include programs that keep up the school's accelerating progress.

One notable appropriation is for $35,000 which is to supply an "activity room" for the Jermy avenue schools, long regarded as very ill-favored in this regard. This new addition will be sited in such a way that it will fit in with the present school buildings and also take its place.

In a scheme for eventual replacement of the "huts".

The board also plans to build a two-room addition to the Queen's Park school in the year ahead, at a building figure estimated at $18,500.

The two above amounts are the principal ones in the current capital account for 1956.

An amount has been set aside with a view towards attempting to restore preventive dental services some time later in the year.

One of the largest sums faced by the board, which goes beyond a sharing of the expense by Victoria, is with regard to bus transportation.
